Liquidity Value means the total net proceeds of a Liquidity Event paid to Inktomi, including, without limitation, cash, assumed indebtedness, notes or other deferred payments, prepaid expenses and non-customary prorations which materially benefit Inktomi (provided, however, that the Value shall reflect the fair market value of all non-cash consideration received in connection with such Liquidity Event, whether or not contingent, with appropriate discounting to reflect the net present value of any notes or deferred payments or the likelihood of any contingency being satisfied or the debt being collected), as adjusted by the "Lease-Back Adjustment." The "LEASE-BACK ADJUSTMENT" shall mean an increase or decrease in the Liquidity Value which shall equal the positive or negative difference between (i) the net present value of the Base Rent rental stream (i.e., $1.50 per rentable square foot of the Inktomi Premises per month) for the first five (5) years of the Lease-Back Lease, discounted at an annual discount rate of 11% (the "ASSUMED LEASE VALUE"), and (ii) the net present value of the Base Rent rental stream (which rental stream shall be calculated on an effective basis by deducting on a straight-line basis any monetary concessions received by Inktomi over the term of the Lease-Back Lease) for the first five (5) years of the Lease-Back actually agreed to in connection with the Liquidity Event, also discounted at an annual discount rate of 11% (the "ACTUAL LEASE VALUE"). If such difference is positive (i.e., if the Actual Lease Value is greater than the Assumed Lease Value), then the Liquidity Value shall be decreased by the amount of such difference. If such difference is negative (i.e., if the Actual Lease Value is less than the Assumed Lease Value), then the Liquidity Value shall be increased by the amount of such difference.

Liquidity Value means that amount which your Provider has determined is available to settle your Check transactions based on (i) the amount of cash in your Base Account, if any, (ii) the amount of money in the Deposit Accounts that are linked to your Base Account, (iii) the value of the Fund shares in your Base Account, and (iv) margin loans, but only to the extent of the available margin collateral value of securities in your Base Account as determined by your Provider. Your Provider may determine that the available margin collateral value for purposes of paying Check transactions is an amount less than that which could be used to purchase securities or otherwise be withdrawn from your Base Account. The available margin collateral value will fluctuate from day to day, since it depends upon securities prices and the debit balance in your Base Account, and your outstanding Check transactions received for processing. Please confer with your Provider to determine the margin collateral value available to cover Check transactions.
